

Honors English I
Summer Reading Assignment (2022-2023)
Mrs. Hicks
chicks@lexingtonchristian.org

Welcome to Honors English I! I am so excited to spend this year with you! Together, we will develop and hone our writing skills and foster our critical thinking through reading literature. Consider this assignment your first step in this process; these assignments and memoir lay the foundation for your grade and your work ethic in this class. Do not put this assignment off until the week before school starts. The goal of this assignment is to keep your brain active during the summer as well as hopefully help you think about your own faith! Below, you will find all the details for your summer reading assignment. If you have any questions at all, please don't hesitate to contact me. Have a great summer! I look forward to meeting you!

PART I – DONE OVER THE SUMMER

1. You will read Same Kind of Different As Me. This memoir is written by Ron Hall and Denver Moore, who are two of the three main characters in this book. It's a true story of a rich Caucasian male and his wife who find themselves friends with a former-sharecropper African American male. It begins with each of their individual stories and quickly moves to how their stories collide. It is a story of seeing past differences to show the love of God to everyone regardless of their background, present situation, or race. Because parts of this book deal with sharecropping in the 1930s as well as race issues, there are a few instances of the n-word. Know that this word is used in a historical context and should not be used to describe anyone today.
2. As you are reading, annotate the memoir. DO NOT annotate after you have finished the reading. I will NOT collect your books; however, you correctly annotating will make your life in class easier when it comes to completing assignments, adding to a discussion, as well as an assessment at the start of the year. As you are annotating, consider:
 - a. Questions you have
 - b. Sections/excerpts you enjoyed
 - c. Connections to other readings, songs, films, etc.
 - d. Literary devices (simile, metaphor, imagery, dialect, allusions, foreshadowing, irony, symbolism, suspense, etc.)
 - e. Vocabulary that you need to look up
 - e. Themes
3. Complete the Summer Reading Assignment packet included with this instruction sheet. This is DUE on the first day of class. (40 points)

PART II – DONE THE FIRST WEEKS OF SCHOOL

4. Assessment over the memoir during the first week of school (you will be allowed to use your completed Summer Reading Assignment packet; I will return these so that you can make notes while we discuss the memoir prior to taking the test)
5. Analytical Essay- completed during the first weeks of class. You will be given an option of writing prompts where you will use the memoir to discuss characters, plot, and conflict. Prior to writing the essay we will review essay format and discuss what I will expect and grade.

Honors English I Summer Reading Assignment

Summer 2022

CHARACTERIZATION: (10 points)

Characters in the story are the people, animals, or imaginary creatures who take part in the action. In order to develop characters, authors use both direct and indirect characterization. We'll focus mainly on indirect characterization, which can be accomplished in five ways: speech, thoughts, actions, effect on other characters, and looks. For example if a character is described slowly approaching a boss with a fearful look on his face, we can infer that this character has a timid personality. Choose either Ron, Denver, or Deborah. Complete the chart below focusing on one character for the entirety of the chart.

Type of Indirect Characterization	Quote from book (include page number)	What does this tell us about the character's personality?
1. Choose something that the character says and copy that quote into the box to the right. (include page number)
2. Choose something that shows the internal thoughts of the character and copy that quote into the box to the right. (include page number)
3. Choose something that describes an action taken by the character and copy that quote into the box to the right. (include page number)
4. Choose a quote that shows how another character reacts to your chosen character and copy that quote into the box to the right. (include page number)
5. Choose a quote that physically describes the character and copy that quote into the box to the right. (include page number)

SETTING: (4 points)

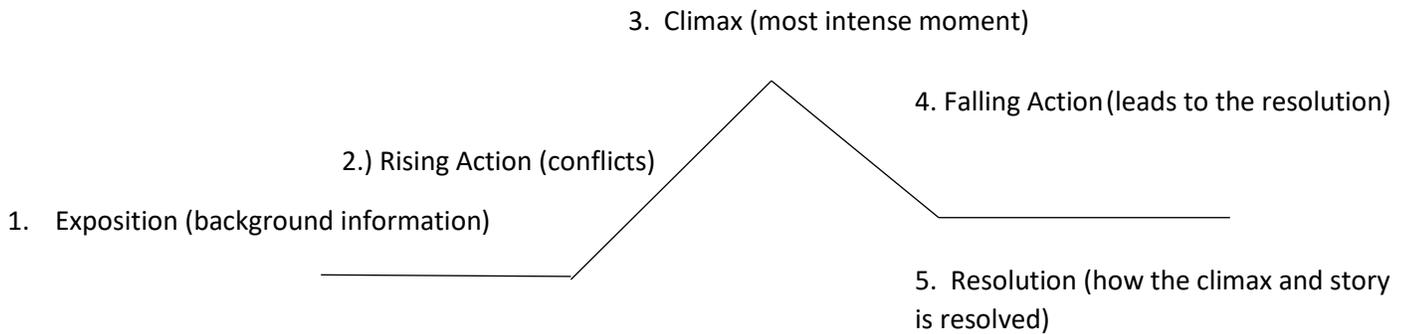

The setting is the time and place of a story. Setting descriptions can also tell the reader something about characters, provides a conflict, create a mood, or set a tone. For example if a setting is described colorful with lots of light coming through large windows, we might say that the mood of that scene is light and cheerful.

Give a quote below that describes the setting (include page numbers):

Explain how that description of the setting either tells you about a character, provides a conflict, creates a mood, or sets a tone.

PLOT: (8 points)

Plot is the sequence of events in a story. It is built around conflicts—problems or struggles between opposing forces.

Identify each of the plot elements from the memoir. Include chapters or page numbers where these events are described.

Exposition: _____

Rising Action 1: _____

Rising Action 2: _____

Rising Action 3: _____

Climax: _____

Falling Action 1: _____

Falling Action 2: _____

Resolution: _____

CONFLICT: (12 points)

The CONFLICT is the problem within the story. There may be many conflicts.

TYPES OF CONFLICT:

INTERNAL CONFLICT: one that occurs within a character

EXTERNAL CONFLICT: involves a character pitted against an outside force

The conflict in book is... Describe the conflict in your own words and give the page numbers from the book.	Type of Conflict (internal or external) Man vs. Man Man vs. Nature Man vs. Self Man vs. Society	How is the CONFLICT resolved?

QUOTES: (4 points)

Find two memorable quotes from this memoir that you really liked. One could be description of a character that reminds you of someone you know. One might be a quote about conflict that reminds you of a similar conflict in your life. Maybe you have a sentence from the book that gives good advice or offers an insight into relationships. Finally it might be a quote that prompts a question. You will need to write the quote, the page number. Then explain WHY you found this quote significant.

THEME: (2 points)

THEME is the author's message/lesson or moral of the story (what the writer is trying to portray to the reader). As a reader, ask yourself, what the author believes about a certain topic. It should be stated as a complete sentence – not one or two words. For instance, a theme can't be LOVE. The theme might be that love is best displayed through actions.

One possible THEME of this novel is

Provide one plot event that supports the theme and explain. In other words, what happens in the story to illustrate that moral or lesson from the author?
